

Sister Karee and the Other Brothers - A Short Bio

Meet Sister Karee and the Other Brothers: at the center of this band's universe is Karee Miller Jaeger. Funk, rock, country, soul she does it all. Bringing her powerful voice and stage presence to every show this woman's entertainment value is noteworthy. Over the last 12 years she has headlined festivals, played for royalty, celebrities, been flown to gigs, played every venue in the Jackson Hole area and has been a meaningful part of more weddings than she can count. She has been on the big stage in support of Buddy Guy, Sister Sparrow, Blues Traveler, Avett Brothers, Black Crows, The Wreckers, Michael Franti, Ben Harper, just to name a few. She has sung the National Anthem at the Minnesota Metrodome and the PBR rodeo. But perhaps she is most famous as one half of the fabulous Miller Sisters - arguably the most successful musician partnership in Jackson history. Unfortunately, when Sister Candice passed away in July of 2018, Karee was at a real-life crossroads.

Lucky for us, after much soul searching, Karee decided to continue her journey as a performing artist. She has reached out to her beloved bandmate brothers from former party band Mandatory Air to forage ahead making music.

Members of The Other Brothers include: Justin Smith (guitar/vocals), John Pansewicz (guitar), Marshall Davis (bass), Jason Baggett (drums) and Mac Munroe (percussion).
